

The University of Hong Kong
School of Nursing
Master of Nursing
Programme Learning Outcomes

Mapping of Programme Learning Outcomes (PLOs) against University Educational Aims (UEAs):

University's Educational Aims	Programme Learning Outcomes
To enable our students to develop their capabilities in: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critical intellectual enquiry and acquiring up-to-date knowledge and research skills in a discipline/profession; 	To enable our students to: PLO1: apply competently the advanced knowledge and skills in order to promote a culture of professional excellence in nursing practice.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Application of knowledge and research skills to practice or theoretical exploration, demonstrating originality and creativity; 	PLO2: contribute to the advancement of nursing knowledge and practice through research and evidence-based practice.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Tackling novel situations and ill-defined problems; 	PLO4: commit to life-long learning to enhance the ability to tackle ill-defined problems in pursuing practice and to ensure the best practices in healthcare setting of nursing.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Collaboration and communication of disciplinary knowledge to specialists and the general public 	PLO5: lead, collaborate and coordinate multi-disciplinary team work and communicate with the nursing practitioners and general public effectively and professionally.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. Awareness of and adherence to personal and professional ethics; 	PLO3: reflect on their own practice so that they can construct, articulate and evaluate their own philosophy, self-reflection and professional ethics in health care and nursing practice.
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 6. Enhancement of leadership and advocacy skills in a profession. 	PLO6: provide leadership to the health care profession and nursing practice.